Western Dressage Association® of America Offers Judges Training Program

Parker, Colorado – The Western Dressage Association® of America (WDAA) offered the first Western Dressage Judges Seminar at the International Equine Judges Seminar held by the Color Breed Council in Tulsa in January of 2014. The response was overwhelmingly enthusiastic and the organization is in planning stages for additional offerings of this educational opportunity.

The WDAA Judges' Training Program is open to all licensed Dressage judges, Western judges, Breed judges and those starting out who want to learn about Western Dressage. The program consists of three parts: participation in the Judge's Seminar and a Rules test, online judges testing through access to a WDAA Online Judges Platform and a Learner Judging at Federation Competitions. Candidates who pass all sections of the program will be those recommend by the WDAA for judging Western Dressage.

For more information about the WDAA Judge's Training Program or to sign up for information on future offerings, please visit the Judges Education page on the WDAA website at <http://www.westerndressageassociation.org/western-dressage-judges-education-program/>
